

A CHECKLIST OF POST-WAR BRITISH GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS RELATING TO MALTA

Compiled by

Richard H. A. Cheffins

The following list updates that of Donald Simpson published in Melita Historica in 1954. (1) It is not, however, strictly a continuation for it differs in a number of ways from its predecessor. I have chosen to overlap slightly with Mr Simpson's list as I feel that 1945 constitutes a more appropriate starting point than 1950 when that finished. The difference in the length of period covered — barely 25 years compared to a century and a half — has enabled me to extend the scope of this list. Mr. Simpson's list was confined largely, though not entirely, to Parliamentary Papers as anything of consequence was usually published in this form by the British government in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. More recently the importance of 'non-parliamentary' publications (i.e. those not 'presented to Parliament') has grown and this is reflected in the list that follows. I have also tried to include a complete list of subordinate legislation on Malta which usually took the form of laws made by Royal prerogative such as Letters Patent and Orders in Council. General works on the Commonwealth, many of which contain material on Malta, have been excluded except those few which were arranged topographically and in which there were separate sections on Malta.

All this has made this list quite as bulky as its predecessor and it would have been bulkier still had I not reluctantly abandoned the subject arrangement of Mr. Simpson's list. Instead I have arranged the items in three sections according to their type of publication — Legislation, Parliamentary Papers, and Non-Parliamentary Publications. The first two are sub-arranged chronologically, the last alphabetically by department. Publications in the first two sections were normally published twice, first as separate items and subsequently in collected series (laws in annual volumes and Parliamentary Papers in sessional series — a session normally runs from November to November but can be longer or shorter as the exigencies of Parliament require). As it is generally easier to consult the collected series, I have included abbreviated references to them in the list that follows. In each case they follow the main citations and are separated from them by semi-colons. Imprint details have been omitted in all cases. His (Her) Majesty's Stationery Office published everything in Sections I and II and all but items 71-81, 83-5, 87-8, 91-2, 94, 105-7, 113-14 and 118-9 in Section III. These items were issued directly by the departments concerned.

Finally it should be mentioned that several of the items listed — all the constitutional documents and many of the economic or financial reports — were also published as Maltese government publications, usually as supplements to the Malta Government Gazette. For example, the 'Malta Independence Order', published in Britain as a Statutory Instrument (1), can probably be consulted more easily in Malta as Supplement to the Malta Government Gazette, No. 11,688 of 18th September 1964 (pp. 7-146).

ABBREVIATIONS. The following abbreviations, in addition to those in common use, have been used:-

cap.	caput (i.e. chapter — all Acts of Parliament of a given year are technically one, the individual Acts being strictly mere 'chapters' of the whole).
Cmd. (from 1956: Cmnd.)	Command Paper.
HC	House of Commons Paper.
HC Bill	House of Commons Bill.
HL	House of Lords Paper and Bill. (numbered in a single sequence).
PGA	Public General Acts.
SR & O & SI Rev.	Statutory Rules and Orders and Statutory Instruments, revised to

(1) 1964 No. 1398 (see item No. 25 below).

December 31, 1948 (and published 1951).

SI

Statutory Instrument(s). (used of both the individual Instrument and of the annual collected volumes of Instruments).

NOTE. Volume numbers in the collected series are given in Roman numerals. The Arabic numerals which follow refer to the page in the volume where the item can be found. Volumes of Sessional (Parliamentary) Papers number afresh each session.
